TOWER 1982

Manhattanville College
Purchase, New York

JOHN G. O'HARA

731 Caudwell Ave.
Bronx, N.Y.C.
January 23, 1939

Reverend Mother Director
College of The Sacred Heart,
New York City.

"Reverend and Dear Mother,
When in New York this fall, the Very Reverend Edward B. Bunn, S.J., under whom I had taught for three years, knowing of my desire to obtain a position which offered greater chance for advancement than my present one, suggested that I write 'Manhattanville.' "

With these words, John G. O'Hara began his long and fruitful association with Manhattanville College. He was hired in September, 1939 as an Instructor in the Philosophy Department, and in 1941, he was appointed Assistant Professor of Philosophy.

The year 1943 saw John O'Hara entering the military service as an enlisted man, where he was comissioned with the role of Clinical Psychologist.

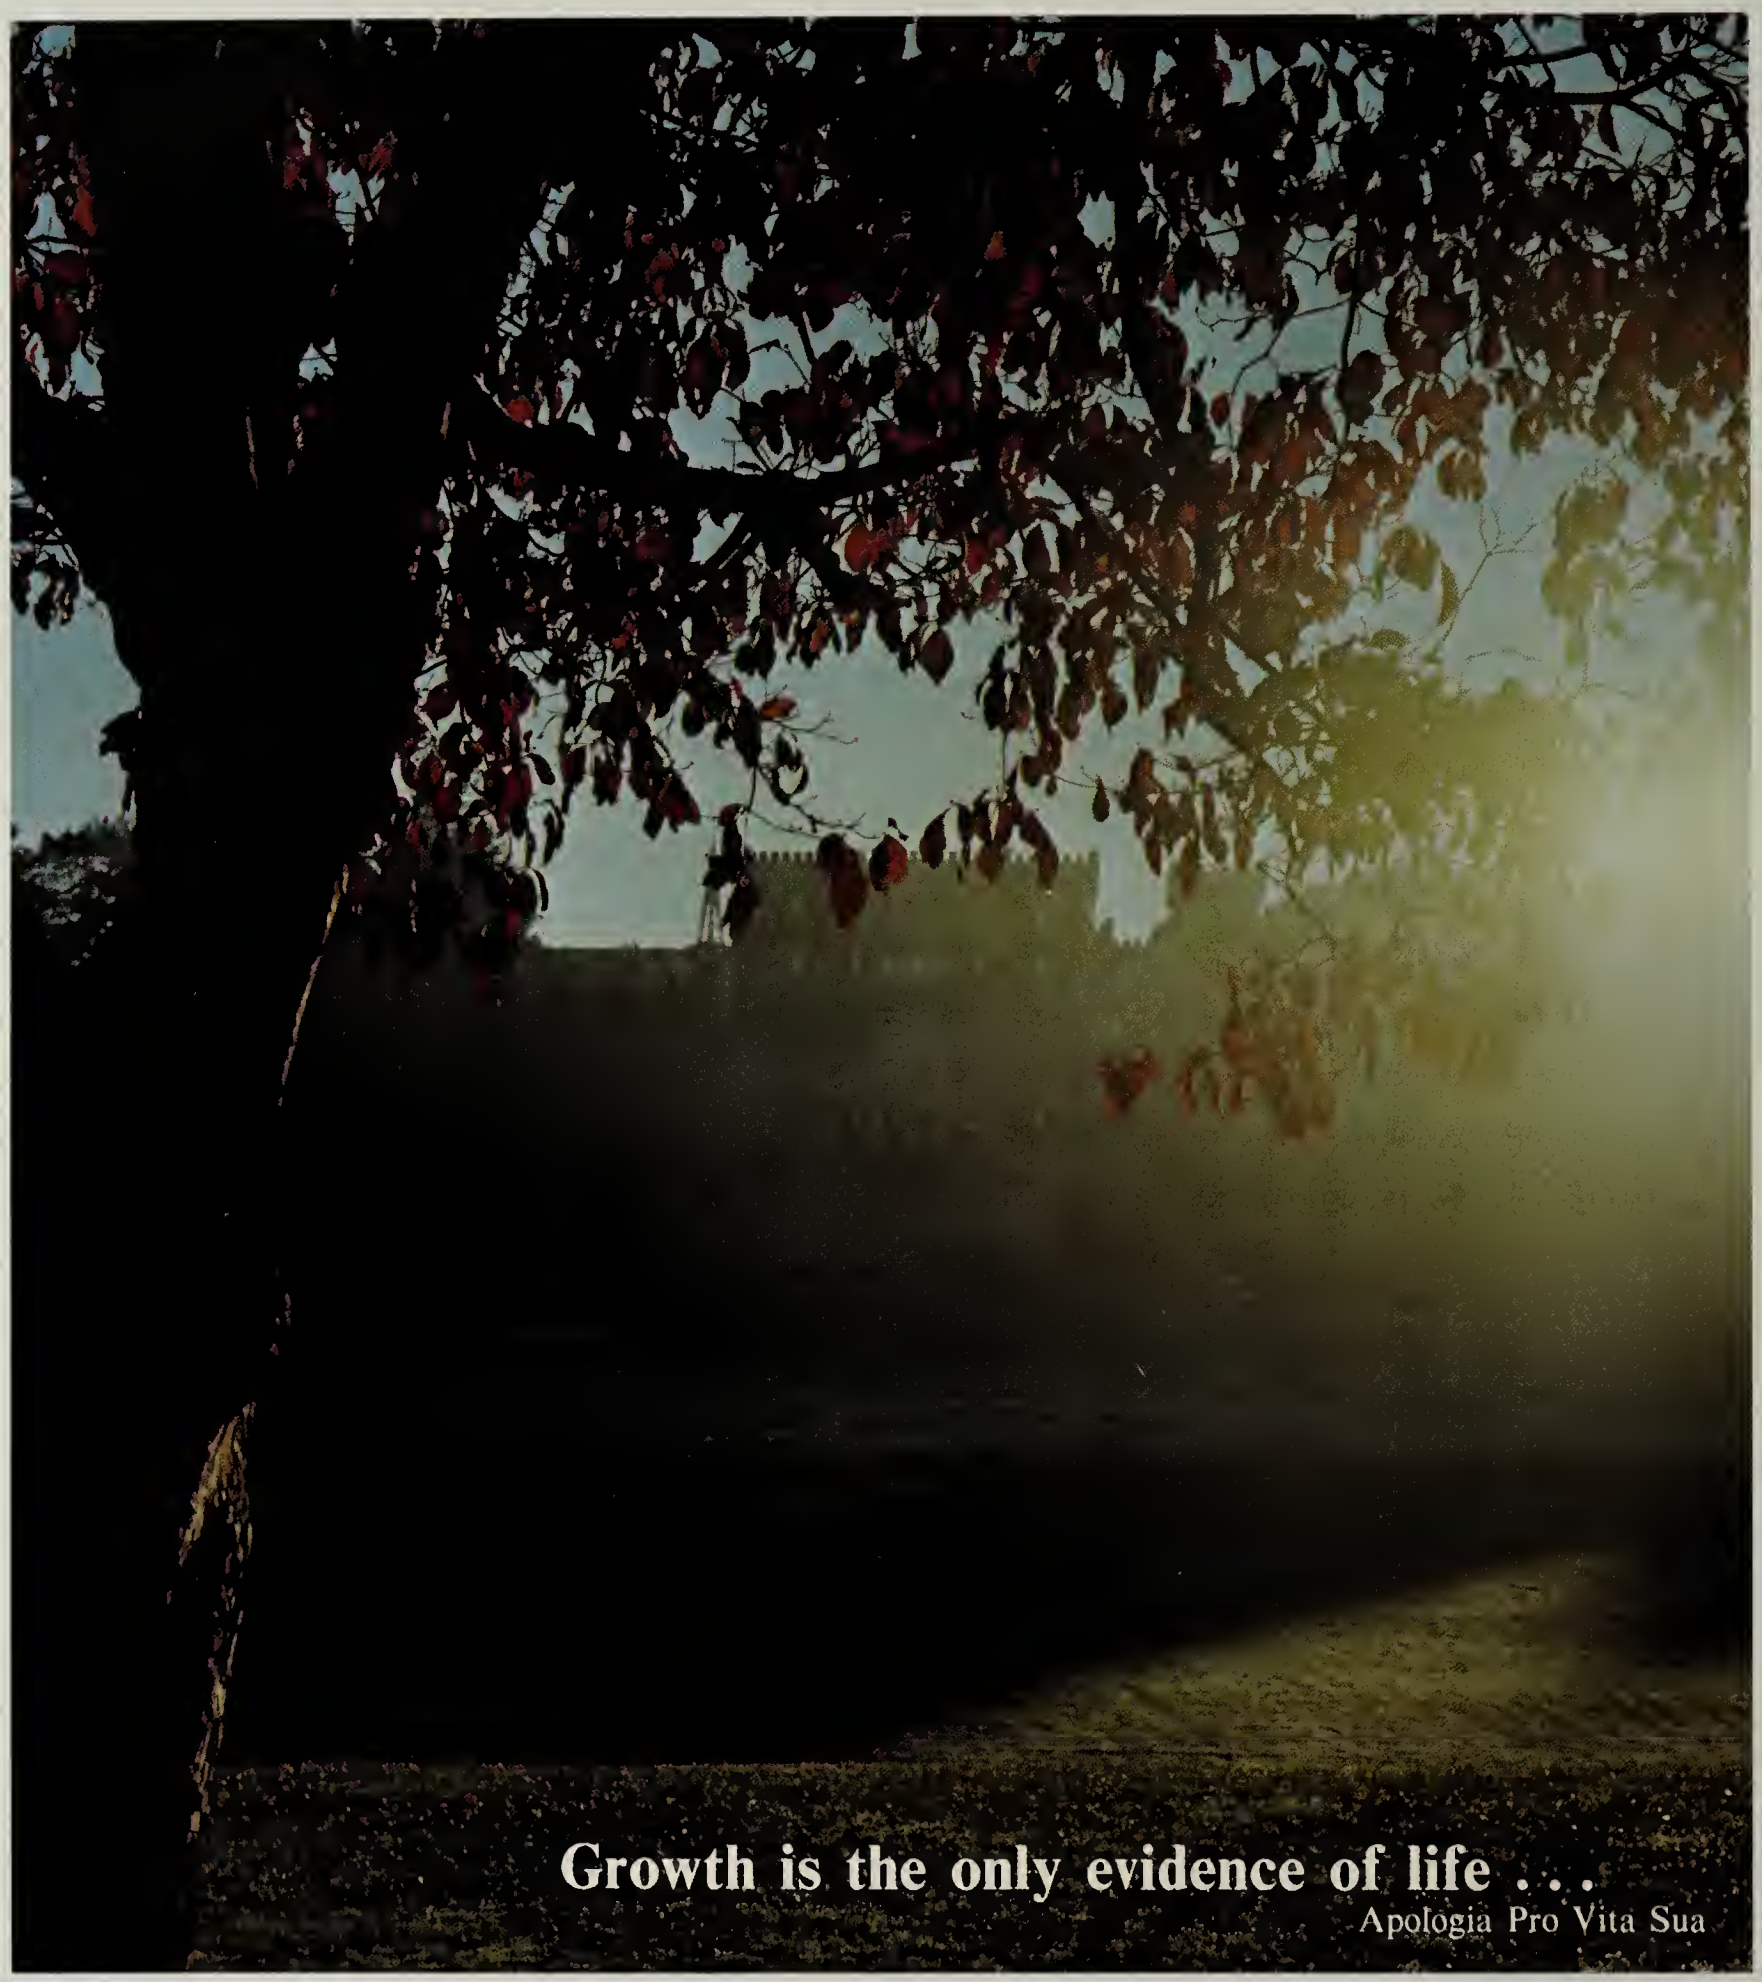
Returning to Manhattanville in 1946, he was appointed Assistant Professor of Psychology. He was now ready to a) promote a department of Psychology; b) prepare for marriage to Ethel Margaret Eckert; c) become Associate Professor of Psychology in 1947; d) think about finishing his Ph.D. at Fordham which he did in 1950; and e) prepare the Psychology Laboratories for moving to Purchase. In this last regard, he designed the laboratory room at Manhattanville which is still used today. In 1950, he was also promoted to Professor of Psychology and received tenure.

Over the years, the Psychology Department grew away from its philosophic beginnings. Other psychologists appeared to disagree, argue, and agree with the courtly man whose strong opinions were always presented forcefully and honestly.

In June 1978, John O'Hara became Professor Emeritis. On September 9, 1981, he was called to his last service. His family, friends, and colleagues honored him as a parent, teacher, scholar, and gentleman.

Everett Delahantey

TOWER Yearbook and the Class of 1982 would like to take this opportunity to give thanks to Professor John O'Hara because he was one of the many people who touched our lives and helped us to grow.



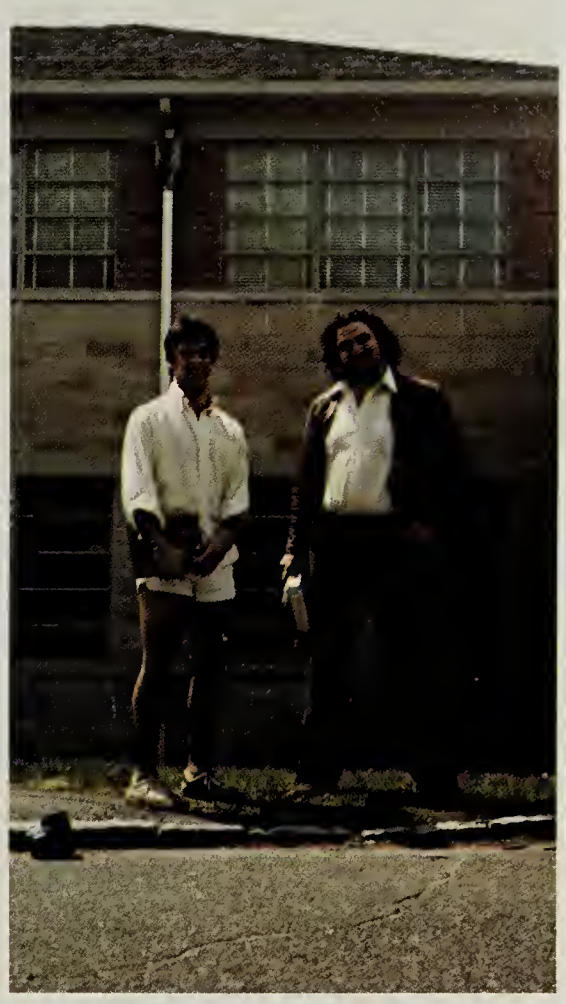
Growth is the only evidence of life . . .
Apologia Pro Vita Sua

Choosing this new pathway to follow,

we entered as a diverse group.

Through social activities, sports, and classes,

we grew into a close knit community.



Relationships and sharing of experiences with our special friends have created a strong bond and a uniqueness to Manhattanville.

Now, as we part in search of attaining personal goals,
with time and distance to separate us,

We will be forever united in our pathway of growth here at Manhattanville.

JANE CORREA MAGGIN

Mrs. Maggin is a 1965 graduate of Manhattanville, where she received a B.A. with honors in economics and urban affairs. Very active in clubs and organizations, she served as editor of TOWER in 1964, a National Student Association Delegate, President of the Development Council and a member of the Young Democrats Club.

In 1968, Mrs. Maggin was named director of Community Relations at New York University. During her twelve years at NYU, she was professor in residence at Rubin Hall and was later appointed director of student affairs. In 1974, she was named Vice-President for student affairs.

This year, Mrs. Maggin resigned her post at NYU to devote more time to outside activities and interests. Furthermore, she has assumed the role of Acting President during Barbara Debs' sabbatical. While here at Manhattanville, she intends to promote financial well-being, improve campus life, and to better the administrative system. Students describe Jane Maggin as "energetic and very involved with Manhattanville affairs."

Intramurals

Seven years ago when I arrived, Manhattanville was a seemingly deserted, if beautiful, wasteland. A small college which had lost its identity and many top students in the double whammy switch from a classy women's Catholic college to a coed non-secretarian school. Nobody knew anybody. There was no depth in the lineup, no Yankee tradition. The gym was clean and well cared for. The users of the gym were townies, a few nuns who had their own keys to the pool, and a few members of the faculty who played tennis in the gym on Sunday mornings.

Now it's the winter of '81, and I cannot escape the thought that we have improved even more since the All-Sports Banquet. Yet detailing successes doesn't really caputre it. We sell intangibles at small, private liberal arts colleges. Pursuit of excellence is one of those intangibles. They say defining excellence is like trying to nail jello to a tree. Often you wonder, what does endlessly practicing and pursuing "high" goals of State, Regional, and National Championships have to do with being a "winner" in the "real world"? The pursuit of excellence in athletics has "carry-over" value in making friends, performing under pressure, and working years for one small goal.

Robert Frost talks of "carry-over" value as he describes what a person has gathered at the end of a day spent raking leaves:

"Next to nothing for weight,
And since they grew duller
From contact with earth
Next to nothing for color
Next to nothing for use,
But a crop is a crop
And who's to say where
The harvest shall stop?"

So . . . who's to say where the "harvest shall stop" . . . for all of you who have participated here at the 'Ville?

— Joel Daunic

. . . And Now . . . A Word From Our Athletes . . .

Tennis: " . . . You can consider it a 'state of the mind' sport — as long as you have the tools for execution."

— André Brady

Basketball: "Through b'ball we've all grown and learned."

— Mike Failla

Field Hockey: "While you're on the field, you work together, and the team will pull through like . . . MAGIC."

— Karen A. Carig

Soccer: "That's what it's all about — a constant team spirit, eleven people become one."

— Bob Sprague

Swimming: "It pays off when those two or three tenths of a second are dropped off which enables you to win the race."

— Sally Sinclair

While our sojourn at Manhattanville ends
A new one is awaiting.
Our life here has given us the strength
To challenge what lies ahead.
It has made us strong . . .
It has enabled us to grow . . .
